4. Why we collect your personal data and what we use it for

- a. business finance customers
- b. Property Finance customers
- c. Suppliers, brokers and other people we do business with

a. business finance customers

We collect and process your personal data:

- so that we can properly provide our services to you, including for example, to search, find and broker to appropriate lenders and business finance providers for you, take instructions and operate your account, manage the relationship with you, deal with payments, deal with the asset at the end of the hire purchase or lease and close your account
- so that we can fulfil our legal and regulatory obligations, for example, to undertake proper checks on our customers to help prevent and detect crime
- to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations, for example, to report to regulators and authorities about the products and services that we provide to you
- to offer you products and services
- to maintain and improve the quality of our products and the way we provide our services. to protect and defend our legal rights

b. Property Finance customers

We collect and process your personal data:

- so that we can properly provide our services to you, including for example, assess the proposed loan facility, open your account, undertake appropriate property due diligence, source the loan facility, take instructions and operate your account, manage the relationship with you, assist in managing our lenders credit risk, deal with payments, deal with repayment and close your account
- so that we can fulfil our legal and regulatory obligations, for example, to undertake proper checks on our customers to help prevent and detect crime
- to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations, for example, to report to regulators and authorities about the products and services that we provide to you
- to offer you products and services
- to maintain and improve the quality of our products and the way we provide our services to protect and defend our legal rights

c. Suppliers, brokers and other people we do business with

We collect and process your personal data:

- so that we can assess the suitability of the supplier, including undertaking appropriate background checks and on-going monitoring;

- to contact the supplier and manage the supplier relationship and provision of the goods or services; and to protect and defend our legal rights.

5. The legal basis upon which we collect, process and store your personal data

The UK's data protection law allows the use of personal data where its purpose is legitimate and isn't outweighed by the interests, fundamental rights or freedoms of data subjects. The law calls this the legitimate interests condition for personal data processing.

As explained above, we only collect, use and store the minimum amount of personal data about you that is necessary for us provide you with our products and services and to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations arising as a result of us providing those products and services to you. Accordingly, the basis that we collect, use and store your information is because we have a legitimate interest to do so as a regulated finance broker providing these products and services to you.

Our legitimate interests include:

- to act as a prudent and responsible finance broker; to undertake reference checks, credit checks and risk assessments;
- to help combat financial crime including tax evasion, bribery, fraud and money-laundering; to maintain network and information security;
- to meet our legal and regulatory obligations; to protect and defend our legal rights;
- to maintain accurate records including customer preferences; to enhance, modify and improve our products and services;
- for direct marketing (except if we have asked you for your consent and you have not given it to us); to manage third party relationships; and
- to pursue our commercial objectives as a finance broker where this does not override your rights and freedoms as a data subject.

When we process your personal information for our legitimate interests, we make sure to consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative), and your rights under data protection laws. Our legitimate business interests do not automatically override your interests - we will not use your Personal Data for activities where our interests are overridden by the impact on you (unless we have your consent or are otherwise required or permitted to by law).

If we have asked you for your consent to process your information for marketing purposes and you have not given it to us then we will not process your information for marketing purposes. If we process your personal data for marketing purposes either with your consent or under the soft opt-in principle and you decide that you do not wish to receive marketing from us then we will stop processing your information for marketing purposes at any time you tell us that you no longer wish to receive marketing from us.

6. Where your personal data is stored and processed

We are based in the UK, and we keep our filing systems and databases here.

We may be required to send or allow access to personal data from elsewhere in the world. This might be the case, for example, when someone providing support services to us is based overseas or uses overseas data centres or where suppliers of assets being purchased via a hire purchase or through a lease agreement, are based overseas.

While countries in the European Economic Area all ensure a high standard of data protection law, some parts of the world may not provide the same level of legal protection when it comes to personal data. As a result, if we do send personal data overseas we will make sure suitable safeguards are in place in accordance with European data protection requirements, to protect the data.

If your data has been sent overseas like this, you can find out more about the safeguards used from us.

Whenever fraud prevention agencies transfer your personal data outside of the European Economic Area, they impose contractual obligations on the recipients of that data to protect your personal data to the standard required in the European Economic Area. They may also require the recipient to subscribe to 'international frameworks' intended to enable secure data sharing.

7. Who we share your personal data with, what personal data we share and why we do so

We do not sell any of your information to third parties, we will not give anyone your information, other than those working directly with us, so that they can market to you.

• Lenders and Business Finance Providers

We will pass your relevant details on to selected members of our panel of Lenders and business finance providers, for the purpose of obtaining you or your business finance. This may be used by them to search credit reference agencies and other third-party verification services.

They may pass your details on to credit reference agencies and fraud prevention agencies and they will receive scores and reports from them.

They and fraud prevention agencies may also enable law enforcement agencies to access and use your personal data to detect, investigate and prevent crime. Please note that fraud prevention agencies can hold your personal data for different periods of time, and if you are considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk, your data can be held for up to six years.

If they, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, they may refuse to provide the services and financing you have requested or they may stop providing existing services to you. A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies and may result in others refusing to provide services or financing to you. If you have any questions about this, please contact us on the details provided.

Searches they make with credit reference agencies will leave a 'footprint' on your file and they will also provide them with information relating to your performance under your account or facility. These 'footprints' and performance details may be accessed by other financial companies in connection with any applications for credit that you may make to them and may affect your ability to obtain credit with them.

Your application may be assessed using credit reference agency records relating to anyone with whom you have a joint account or similar financial association. Where you make a joint application and such a link does not already exist then one may be created. These links will remain until you file a "notice of disassociation" at the credit reference agencies.

The type of information we share includes, for example, your name, date of birth, address, financial details the fact that you have applied or operate an account with them and whether you have operated your account appropriately.

- Credit Reference Agencies and Fraud Prevention Agencies

In order to receive credit and financial crime check information about you from credit reference agencies we are required, on a reciprocal basis, to share information about you with those credit reference and fraud prevention agencies.

We may pass your details on to credit reference agencies and fraud prevention agencies and we will receive scores and reports from them. We and fraud prevention agencies may also enable law enforcement agencies to access and use your personal data to detect, investigate and prevent crime. Please note that fraud prevention agencies can hold your personal data for different periods of time, and if you are considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk, your data can be held for up to six years.

If we, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, we may refuse to provide the services and financing you have requested or we may stop providing existing services to you. A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies and may result in others refusing to provide services or financing to you. If you have any questions about this, please contact us on the details provided.

Searches we make with credit reference agencies will leave a 'footprint' on your file and we will also provide them with information relating to your performance under your account or facility. These 'footprints' and performance details may be accessed by other financial companies in connection with any applications for credit that you may make to them and may affect your ability to obtain credit with them.

Your application will be assessed using credit reference agency records relating to anyone with whom you have a joint account or similar financial association. Where you make a joint application and such a link does not already exist then one may be created. These links will remain until you file a "notice of disassociation" at the credit reference agencies.

The type of information we share includes, for example, your name, date of birth, address, the fact that you have applied or operate an account with us and whether you have operated your account appropriately.

- Printers

We may use professional printers to print the account statements, letters and other documents that we send to you from time to time and so we have to share with them the information that needs to be printed into those statements, letters and documents that you receive.

- Marketing Companies

We may use the services of an online marketing company to send you e-mails about us and relevant products and services we offer. To enable them to send you the e-mails, we provide them with your name and e-mail address and details of the relevant products and services. If you have told us that you do not wish to receive marketing information from us by e-mail then we will not send them any information about you and you will not receive these emails from them.

- Survey Companies

We may use the services of an online customer satisfaction survey company to gather your feedback and reviews about us. To enable them to send you the e-mail survey request, we provide them with your name and e-mail address and details of the relevant products and services. If you have told us that you do not wish to receive marketing information from us by e-mail then we will not send them any information about you and you will not receive these emails from them.

- Regulators

We may share information about you with our regulators in order to meet our regulatory reporting obligations. We will only share the information about you with our regulators that is necessary to meet our legal and regulatory obligations.

- Service Providers and Suppliers

We may, from time to time, employ the services of third parties to help us provide our products and services to you or to help us meet our regulatory and reporting obligations and it may be necessary to provide them with some of your personal data in order for them to provide us with the required services. Examples of this could be, in relation to our car finance business, providing car registrations to third party valuers to provide us with up-to-date valuations or, in relation to our property finance business, providing address details to third party valuers to provide us with up-to-date valuations or providing access to IT service providers who assist us to ensure that our IT systems are safe and secure.

- Legal Obligations

We may be required to provide information about you where we are required to do so to meet a legal obligation, for example, where we are required to do so under a court order.

Please rest assured that we have quality checked all the third parties to whom we send your information and have appropriate contractual arrangements in place with them to make sure that they will only use the information for the purposes that we have sent it to them and that it will be properly protected.

8. How long we will store your personal data

We shall retain your personal information for the duration of our agreement with you and for the purposes of, complying with our legal obligations, or in our legitimate interests, in accordance with data privacy laws and our retention policy.

9. Your rights to your personal data

We recognise that your information is your information - it does not belong to us. You have a number of important rights which put you in control of your information. To help you understand your rights, we will explain them below.

a. Your right of access to your personal data

You can ask us at any time to tell you what personal data we hold about you and we will do so, without undue delay, and in any event within one month of receipt of your request. That period may be extended by two further months where necessary, taking into account the complexity and number of the requests. We will tell you of any such extension within one month of receipt of your request, together with the reasons for the delay. Where you make the request by electronic means, we will provide the information by electronic means where possible, unless otherwise requested by you.

After 25 May 2018 we will not charge you any fee for providing this information (unless the request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, in which case we may charge you a reasonable fee taking into account the administrative costs of providing the information or communication or taking the action requested. Alternatively, we may be entitled to refuse the request). If you request more than one copy of the information, then we may charge you a reasonable fee for the administration of producing the additional copies.

We may ask you to provide us with information to verify your identity before providing you with the information requested.

b. Your right of rectification to your personal data

You have the right to have any personal data that we hold about you corrected if it is wrong or completed if it is incomplete. To have it corrected or completed, simply tell us what information is wrong or incomplete and give us the correct and complete information. We will update or complete it without undue delay. We may ask you to provide supporting evidence to verify the information you are giving to us for example, proof of address where you tell us that the address details we hold about you are wrong.

c. Your right of erasure of your personal data (also known as the right to be forgotten)

In some circumstances you have the right to have the personal data that we hold about you permanently erased. You will have this right (1) when it is no longer necessary for us to process your personal data or (2) if there is no legal basis for us to process your personal data or (3) if we unlawfully process your personal data or (4) to comply with a legal obligation to which we are subject. If you believe that any of these circumstances apply to you then please tell us and we will ensure that your personal data is permanently erased without undue delay if one of these circumstances do exist.

Where we permanently erase your personal data, we will also take reasonable steps to inform any third parties to whom we have provided your personal data of your request to have the personal data erased.

d. Your right to have processing of your personal data restricted

In some circumstances you have the right to have the processing of your personal data restricted. You will have this right

- if you tell us that your personal data is inaccurate, for a period enabling us to verify its accuracy; or
- if we are not processing your personal data lawfully and you tell us that you would rather have us restrict the processing than erase it; or

- we no longer need your personal data but you need us to store it because you need it for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
- if you have objected to us processing your personal data, for a period enabling us to verify whether the legitimate grounds on which we are processing it override your grounds for objection.

This is not an absolute right, and your personal data may still be processed where certain grounds exist. This is:

- with your consent;
- for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims;
- for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person;
- for reasons of important public interest.

Only one of these grounds needs to be demonstrated to continue data processing.

We will consider and respond to requests we receive, including assessing the applicability of these exemptions.

We will tell you once a restriction on processing has been applied and before lifting any restriction.

Where we restrict the processing of your personal data we will also take reasonable steps to inform any third parties to whom we have provided your personal data of your request to have the personal data restricted.

e. Your right to object to the processing of your personal data

As explained in this Fair Processing Notice, we process your personal data because we have a legitimate interest in doing so. However, you have the right to object to us processing your personal data, on grounds relating to your particular situation. If you object then we will stop processing your personal data unless we can show compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override your interests, rights and freedoms or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. For example, where we detect fraud it is unlikely that your objection may prevent us supplying that information to fraud prevention agencies and legal authorities. Another example is that it is unlikely that your objection may prevent us reporting to the regulator in relation to your account even if you object to us processing your personal data.

The only exception to this relates to where you have previously given consent to us to market to you and you change your mind and object to us using your personal data to market to you. In this case we will without undue delay stop marketing to you and we will take your objection as a withdrawal of that consent and we will update your marketing preferences.

f. Your right to data portability

New data protection legislation also contains a right to data portability that may give consumers a right in some data processing contexts, to receive their personal data in a portable format when it's processed on certain grounds, such as consent. This is not a right that will apply to your personal data because we process your personal data on the grounds of legitimate interests.

g. Your right not to be subject to automated decision making and profiling

New data protection legislation also contains a right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing. We do not make any decisions based solely on automated processing.

h. Your right to complain to the Information Commissioner

If you are not satisfied with the way that we have processed your personal data or the way that we have dealt with you when exercising any of your rights, then you may follow our complaints procedure by contacting us directly on 01908 429888 or sending an email to info@approvedbusinessfinance.co.uk

<https://www.approvedbusinessfinance.co.uk>

You may also refer your concerns to the Information Commissioner's Office (or ICO), the body that regulates the handling of personal data in the UK. You can contact them by:

1. Phone on 03031 231113
2. Writing to them at Information Commissioner's Office, Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, SK9 SAF
3. Going to their website at www.ico.org.uk

10. Important information for children

We do not offer products or services to children - i.e. anyone under the age of 18. However we may collect and process information about children when it is necessary and incidental to the provision of our products and services. Examples of this include where children are beneficial owners of a company which is our customer and in these circumstances, we process the child's personal data so that we can properly understand who is our customer and meet our combating financial crime obligations.

We will not send marketing information to children.

If you are a child whose personal data we hold then please be aware that this Fair Processing Notice also relates to you and you should read it so that you understand how we process your personal data.

Please note that children have the same rights to their personal data, as explained in this Fair Processing Notice, as an adult.

11. Fraud prevention agencies

• General

Before we provide services, goods or financing to you, we may undertake checks for the purposes of preventing fraud and money laundering, and to verify your identity. These checks require us to process personal data about you.

The personal data you have provided, we have collected from you, or we have received from third parties will be used to prevent fraud and money laundering, and to verify your identity.

Details of the personal information that will be processed, for example: name, address, date of birth, address, contact details, financial information, employment details, device identifiers including IP address and vehicle details.

We and fraud prevention agencies may also enable law enforcement agencies to access and use your personal data to detect, investigate and prevent crime.

We process your personal data on the basis that we have a legitimate interest in preventing fraud and money laundering, and to verify identity, in order to protect our business and to comply with laws that apply to us. Such processing is also a contractual requirement of the services or financing you have requested.

Fraud prevention agencies can hold your personal data for different periods of time, and if you are considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk, your data can be held for up to six years.

• Consequences of Processing

If we, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, we may refuse to provide the services and financing you have requested, or to employ you, or we may stop providing existing services to you.

A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies, and may result in others refusing to provide services, financing or employment to you. If you have any questions about this, please contact us on the details provided.

• Data transfers

Whenever fraud prevention agencies transfer your personal data outside of the European Economic Area, they impose contractual obligations on the recipients of that data to protect your personal data to the standard required in the European Economic Area. They may also require the recipient to subscribe to 'international frame works' intended to enable secure data sharing.

• Your rights

Your personal data is protected by legal rights, which include your rights to object to our processing of your personal data; request that your personal data is erased or corrected; request access to your personal data.

For more information or to exercise your data protection rights, please contact us using the contact details provided.

You also have a right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office which regulates the processing of personal data.
